Volume I

PARTICIPATION

sharing our different thoughts and their expressions in a classroom, in a club, or at a sports activity

APPRECIATION

recognition of the values of our education, our faculty, our friendships, and our school

persistence in our pursuit of knowledge in the maintenance of high ideals, in our strife to reach our goals, and in our accumulation of experience confidence in ourselves and others we gain as we mature

INDIVIDUALITY

distinction of character we develop as we learn to know and better understand ourselves and others

OBJECTIVES

establishment of certain standards and goals by and for which we wish to live

TRANSITION

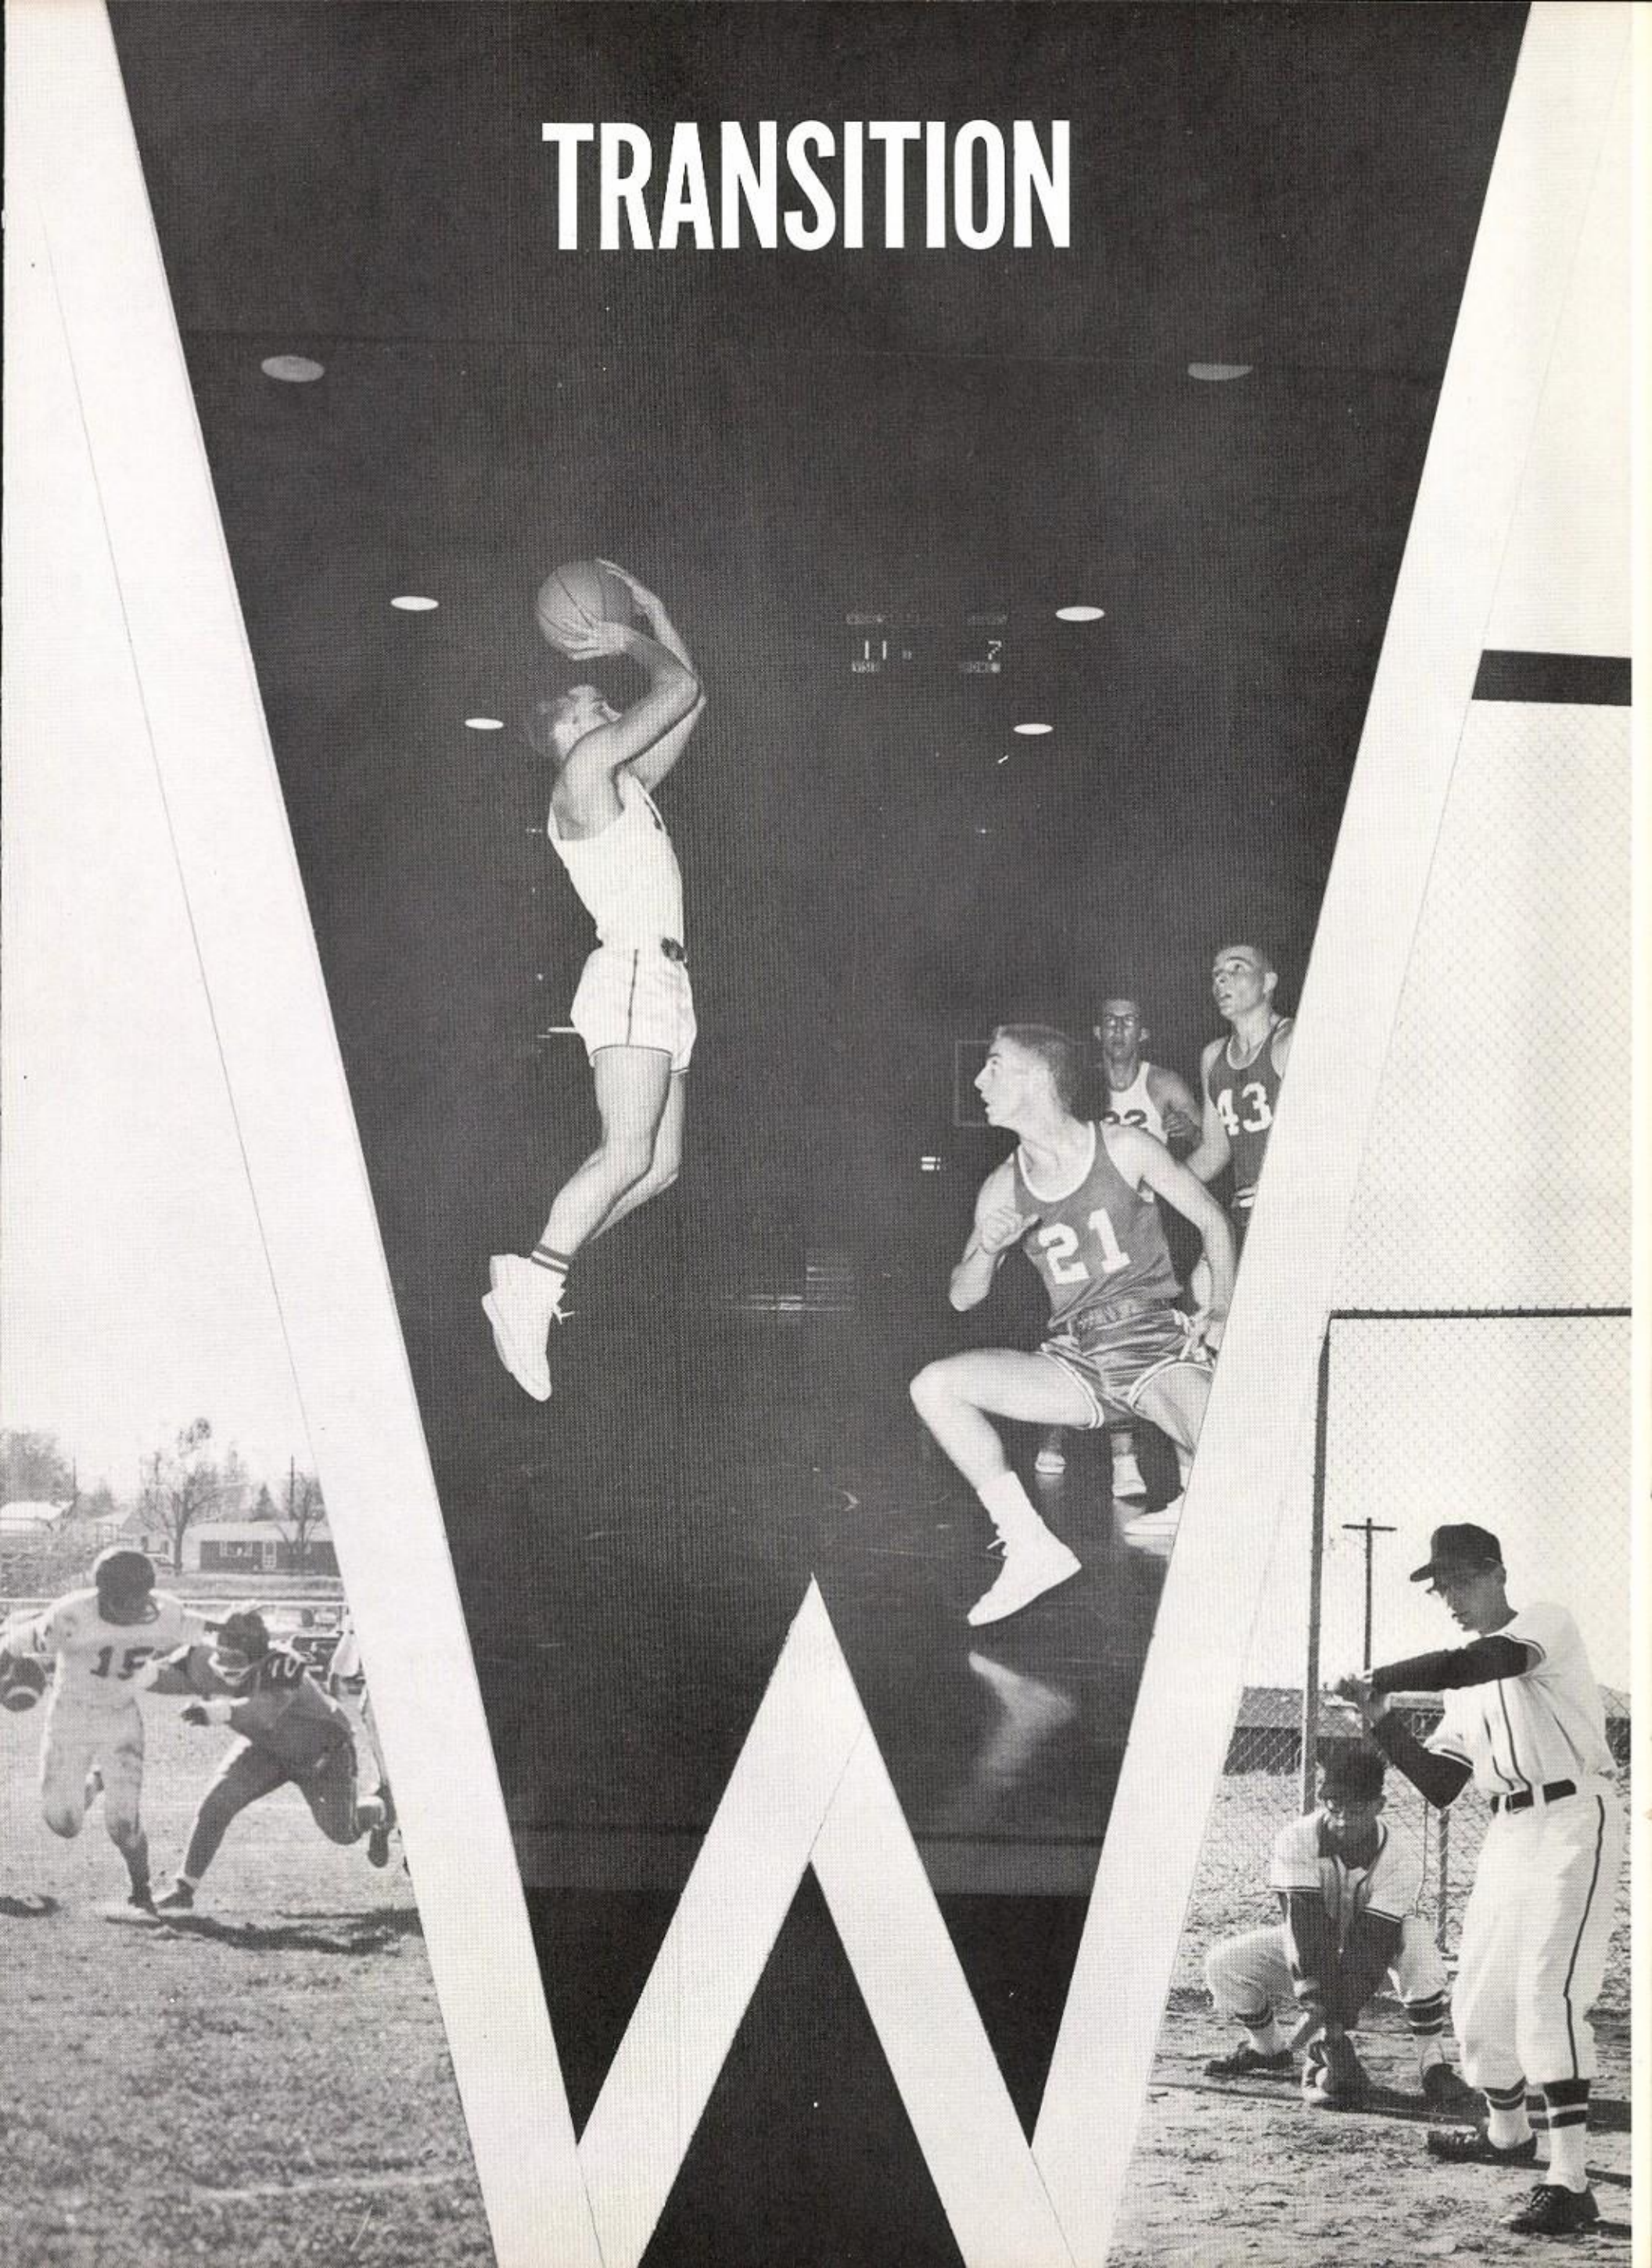

instillation of the above qualities in the Patriot as he changes from youth to adult

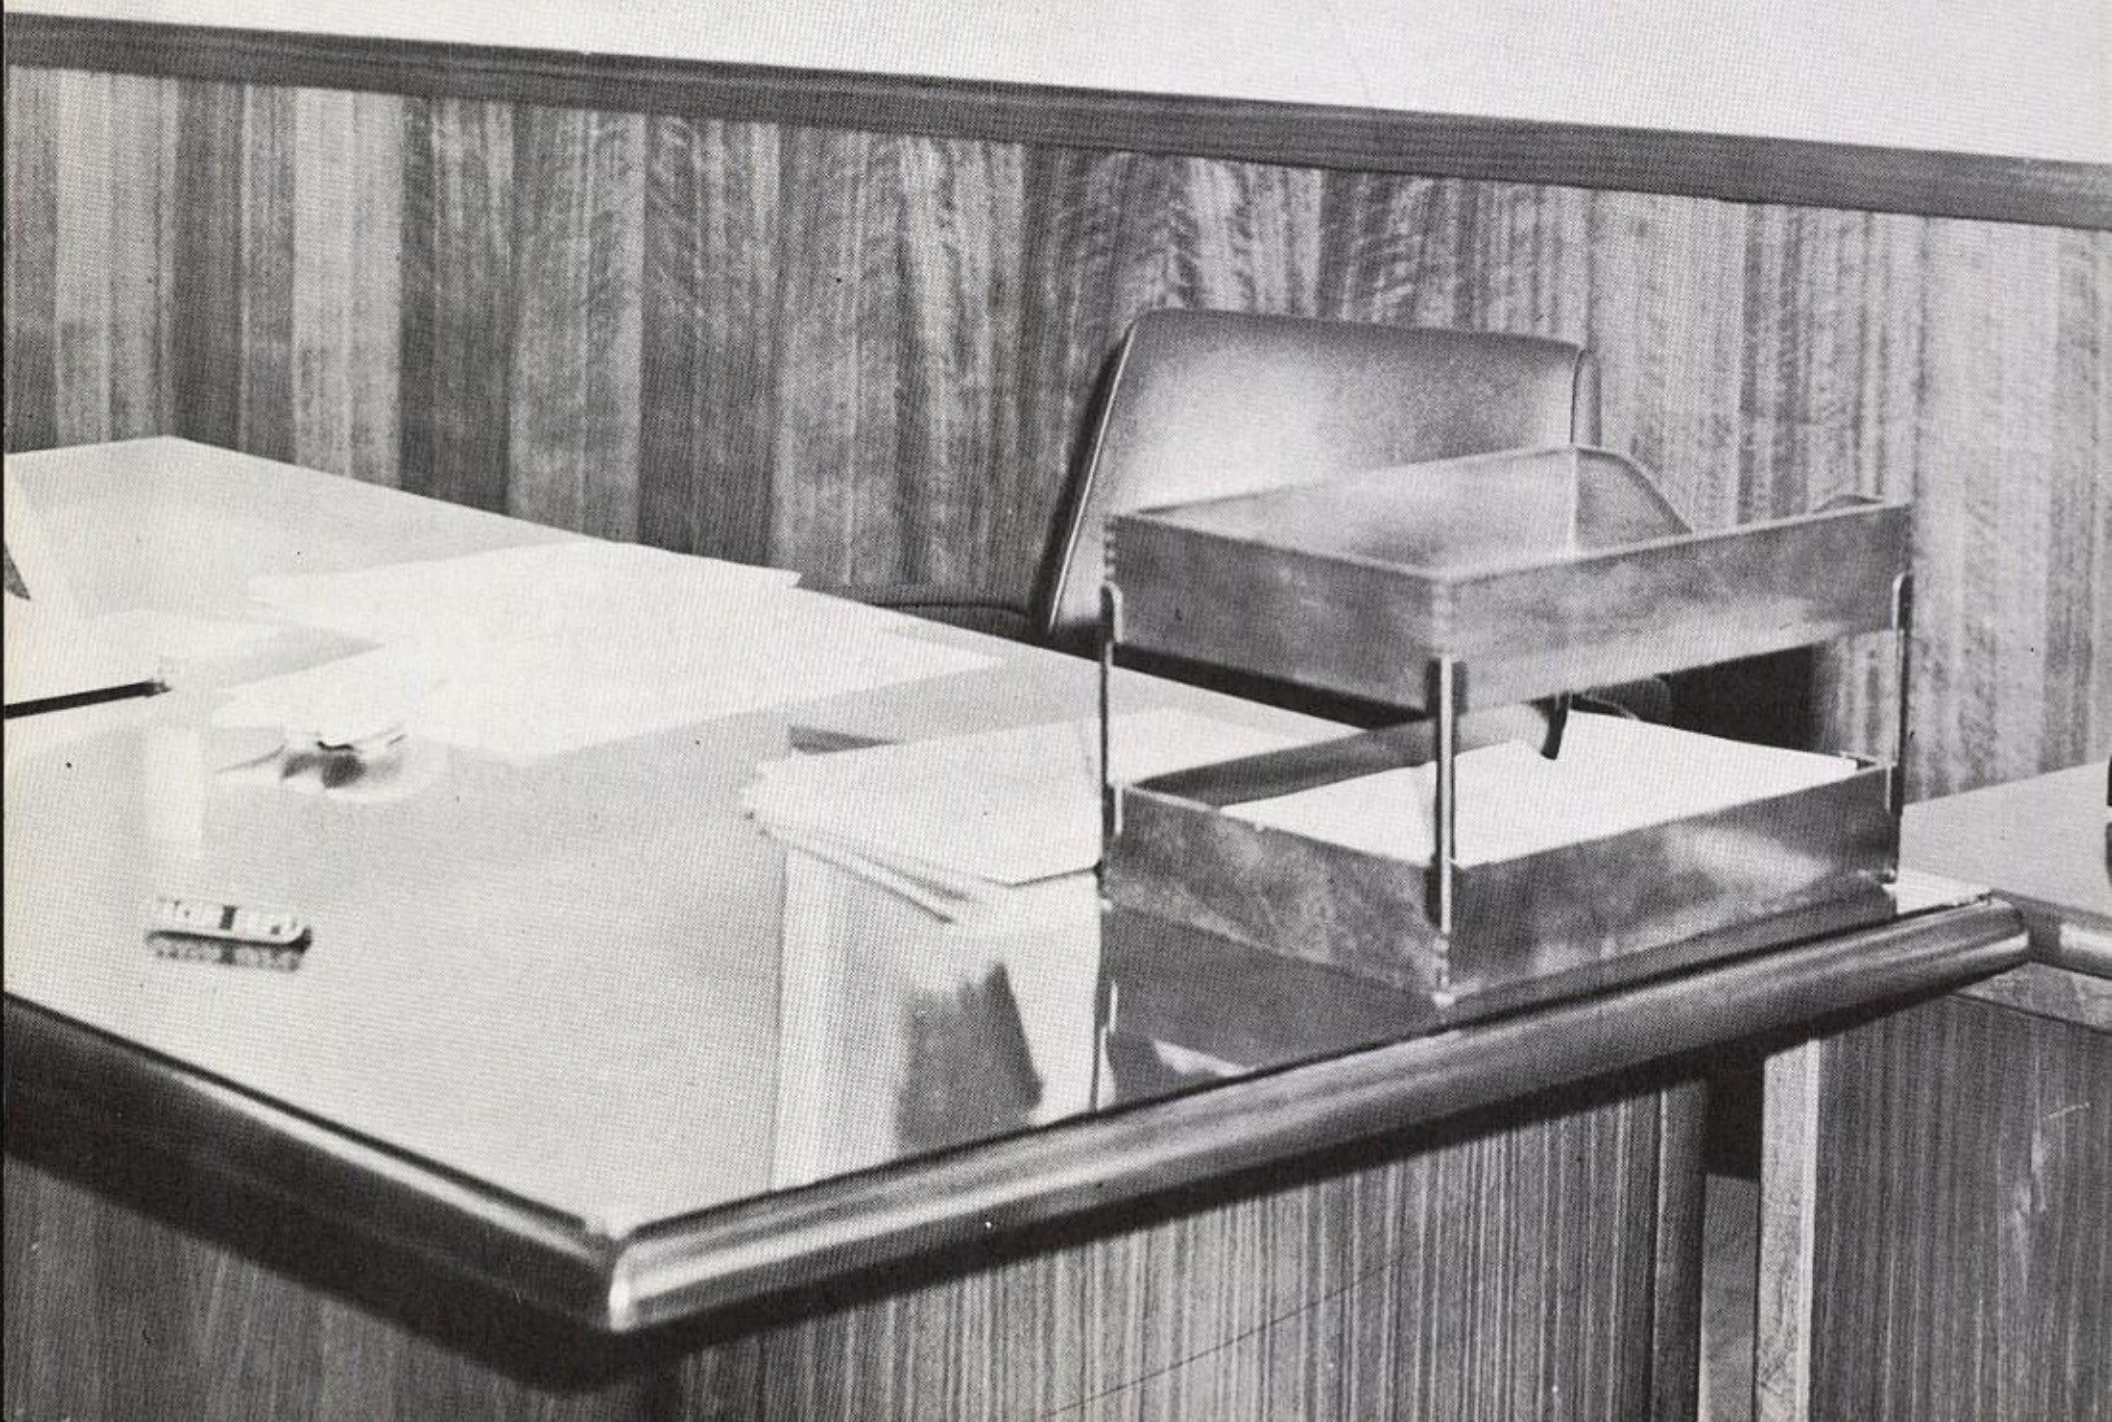

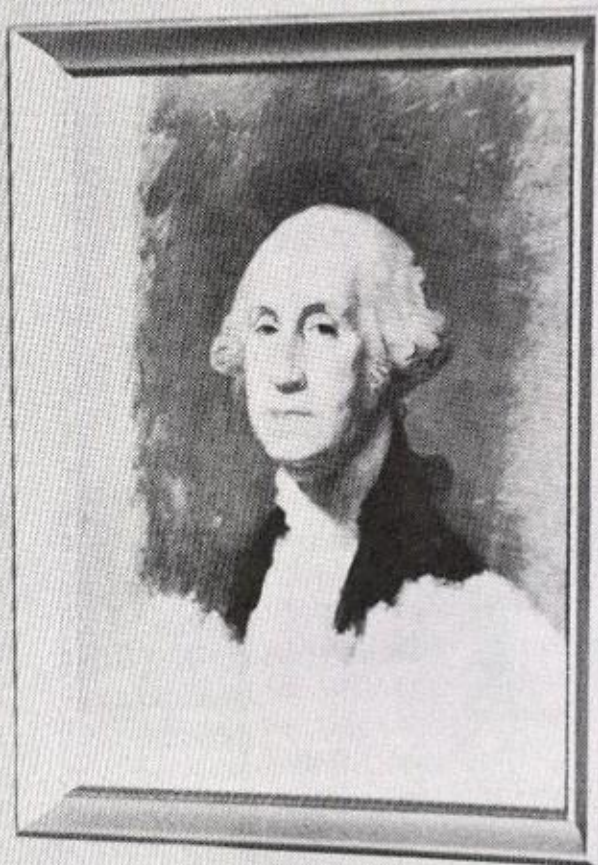

GREEN AND WHITE

Our patriotism may be expressed in many ways. As the school year transits from season to season, the manifestation of our enthusiasm and devotion is revealed in our colors, Green and White. Whether brightening a pep club uniform or a cheerleader's outfit, or waving in a crepe-paper shaker, or decorating banners in the hall-way, there is no Patriot who can help but take pride in the display of the Green and White.

Harmonious teamwork, intellectual curiosity, good sportsmanship, creative artistry, a continual process of building and rebuilding for a better future, and above all, an effervescent school spirit — this is George Washington High School. In the classroom, in our activities, and on our athletic fields and courts, an ineffable sense of mutual interdependence pervades all that we do. Many memories spring to mind as we try to define that aura that illumines our activities, but above the clamor of competitive thoughts rises our ambition to achieve success. We, the staff of the 1961 Heritage, have attempted to do that in our efforts to present a candid, at times nostalgic, and occasionally humorously revealing portrait of George Washington High School's first year through our theme, transition. We are trying to relate the transition from one season to another, to the transition of each school activity to the following one. Our earnest desire is that in years to come this book will serve as a perpetually living memory of your life here, and that you, the graduate, will be able to point to the 1961 Heritage and say, "This is George Washington High School."

TRANSITION

*Jaques,

CURRICULUM-FACULTY

Who has watched the blade of grass grown green? From the dry and withered stalk the imperceptible transition to greenness seems sudden and surprising. One day it is dormant straw, the next it swarms with life and color. But this can only happen when the grass responds to climate, to enrichment, and to cultivation.

We are the grasses.

The faculty are the husbandmen for the tender plants, coaxing growth by patient cultivation, encouraging new tendrils, and all the while making certain that roots are firmly imbedded. They prepare the soil that is the curriculum, constantly enriching it that the young plants may flourish.

MR. SAM WALDMAN assumed leadership as the first principal of George Washington High School this year. As principal he shoulders all school responsibilities, including the organization and guidance involved in a new school.

Administrative Staff Helps Guide Students

The administrative staff of any school, and especially a new school like George Washington, is very important. Mr. Serafini, the assistant principal, helps Mr. Waldman with the many duties involved in the running of a new school. Mrs. Vinyard, as the dean of girls, is in charge of their discipline and guidance. The development of a general school program is the duty of Mr. Jensen, the coordinator.

Teachers Participate In Summer Sessions

Colleges and universities across the country were the scenes of much intellectual activity on the part of George Washington teachers last summer. Twenty-five per cent of the faculty attended summer institutes or clinics or were awarded scholarships or fellowships to study for credit toward a degree.

Four faculty members attended sessions dealing with the Advanced Placement Program. Mr. George Jensen, coordinator, attended the School-College Conference for Administrators of the Advanced Placement Program in Lawrenceville, New Jersey. The A.P. math program was considered by Mr. Donald Brannwell at the Case Institute of Technology last June while Mr. Roger Williams, Jr., attended a brief A.P. American History Conference at Stanford University. Mrs. Elizabeth Munsell participated in the Conference on Advanced Placement in Foreign Languages in Lakeview, Connecticut, where A.P. examinations in foreign language were discussed.

Faculty Takes Part In Special Projects

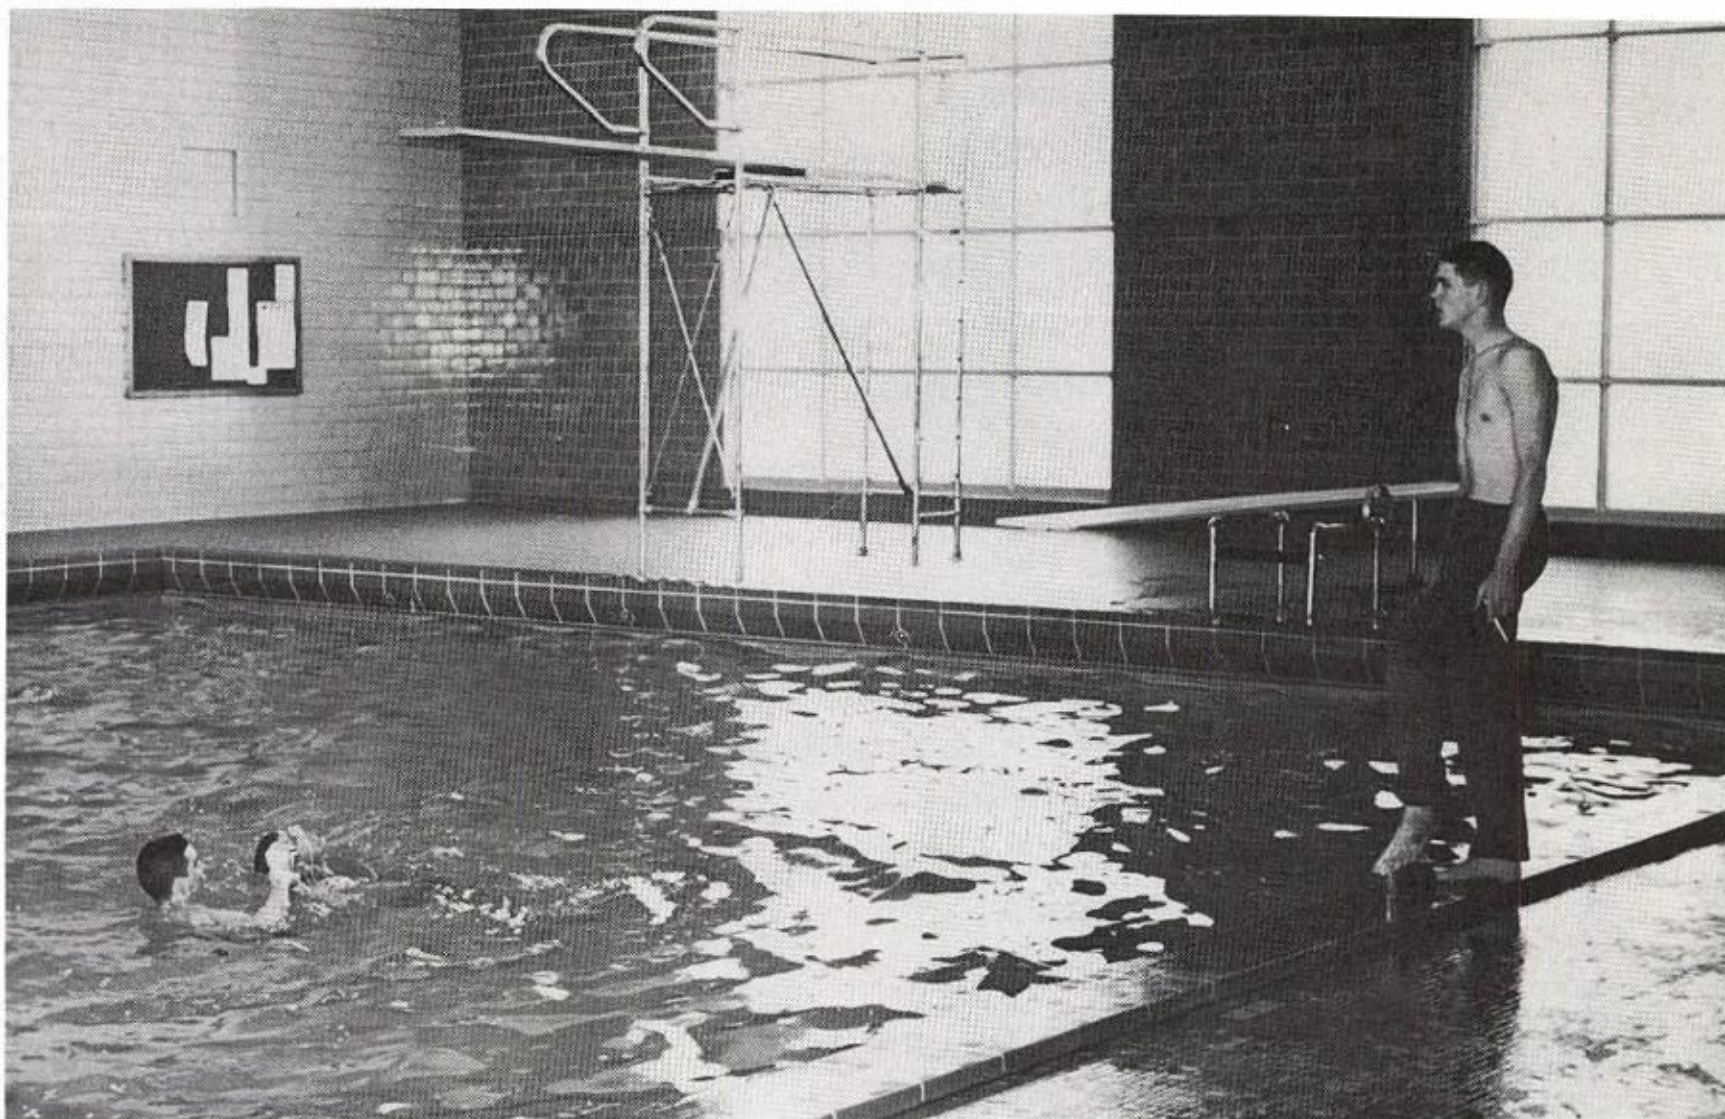

Club sponsorship is one of the many extra-curricular activities in which the faculty participates. Club sponsors are present during all meetings, activities, and field trips. The supervision of the lunch-room, school grounds and parking lot is another of the special duties. The faculty is also willing to devote extra time to students requiring makeup work or extra help.

During the school year, several teachers are invited to act as chaperones at school dances. In addition to this, every teacher is given approximately 75 pupils who he must attempt to guide through three years of high school, to college or a career.

Faculty Favors Western Colleges

Eighty-four per cent of the George Washington faculty members are alumni of colleges and universities in the Western United States. A great majority of this percentage is composed of Denver University graduates, including Mr. Sam Waldman, M.A.; Mr. Philip Serafini, M.A.; Mrs. Doris Vinyard, M.A.; and Mr. George Jensen, M.A.

Among the eastern college graduates are Mr. Theodore S. Cooper, M.Ed. and M.A., from Harvard; Miss Elizabeth Royce, A.B., Middlebury alumnae; and Miss Patricia Nutter, B.S., a graduate of the University of New Hampshire. Miss Rachael Taul received her M.S. degree from Cornell University; Mr. John Brennan, M.A., is a graduate of Columbia University.

Administration Aided by Advisory Council

During the summer and the first six weeks of school the advisory council, under the sponsorship of Mrs. Violette McCarthy, performed many of the services necessary to get a school running smoothly. The council helped in various ways, including in the sale of athletic tickets and pep tags, in the choosing of a name for the school, in the heightening of school spirit, and in the setting up of the school elections.

MRS. VIOLETTE McCARTHY and members of the Advisory council discuss plans with Mr. Sam Waldman.

CHUCK STERN introduces the next speaker in the election assembly.

Elections Completed in Two Assemblies

On September 30 and October 3 elections assemblies were held. At this time candidates for the various offices were given the opportunity to speak. The candidates for presidency spoke on September 30th, and candidates for the other class offices were introduced at this time.

On October 3rd the candidates for all-school offices spoke. Those running for Student Council representatives were introduced.

The theme of the inauguration assembly, November 15th, was "No Man Is An Island," Mr. Sam Waldman, principal, delivered the oath of office to Gail Heitler and Bob Anderson, head girl and head boy. They, in turn, inaugurated Student Council members, class officers, and General Assembly delegates.

The speaker chosen for the assembly was Mr. Earl Reum, director of activities for the Denver Public Schools.

Pat Thomas and Norman Rice, head girl and head boy at Manual, presented the student council a gavel and a scroll welcoming George Washington into membership of the Denver Public Schools.

Bob Anderson and Gail Heitler swear in the newly elected members of Student council and General assembly.

MR. EARL REUM speaks on the assembly theme, "No Man is an Island."

BOB ANDERSON, George Washington's first head boy, has been active in student activities since the 7th grade. At Gove Junior High he was a member of the Student council and at Hill Junior High he was the secretary of the Executive council. At East High, Bob was Sophomore Class President, a Delegate assembly member, a junior escort, and a member of the Principal's Advisory council. He is now active in the Honor Club and is interested in hunting, basketball, and track.

GAIL HEITLER, George Washington High School's first Head Girl, has held offices ever since her days at Hill Junior High. There she was vice-president of the executive council and Red Cross president. As a sophomore at East High School, she was a delegate assembly member and a member of the principal's advisory council. As a junior, she was on student council, a Junior Escort, a May Queen attendant, and an officer of Tri-Hi-Y Youth and Government. During the summer, Gail attended the National Student Council Leadership Camp and Girl's State where she was elected governor. She was the winner of the Colorado Girls' State Golf Championship and runner-up of the Colorado Woman's Golf Tournament. At Washington, she is a member of the Advisory council and the Honor Club.

Problems Weighed by Student Council

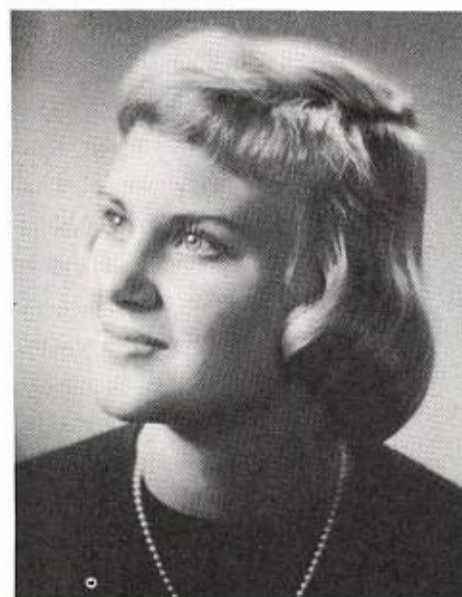

Eight senior, six junior, and four sophomore representatives, head boy, head girl, and the all-school secretary and treasurer comprise Washington's first student council. Selected in an all-school election, these students plan as their most important activities to draft a school constitution, to sponsor the Color Day activities, and to help develop school spirit. The all-school officers act as the officers of Student Council.

Heritage Sets Tradition for First Annual

During the first year of publication, the Heritage staff has endeavored to produce a yearbook worthy of establishing tradition at Washington.

The staff is organized into various editorial and management positions. The "top six" includes the Editor, Assistant Editor, Head Photographer, Format Editor, Photo Coordinator, and Business Manager.

The remainder of the staff is made up of photographers, section editors, and their assistants.

Mr. John Reeves, sponsor of the Heritage, advises the staff on all phases of production. New staff members are chosen once a year, according to their interest and ability.

"Surveyor Staff" Organizes Search for News

Competition on George Washington's newspaper staff is keen. Not only do the page editors compete for the most interesting stories, but there is competition with the East High "Spotlight" and the South High "Confederate."

The "Surveyor" takes its name from its constant survey for news and from the influence of George Washington. Editor Bob Birney is confident that the paper will take a top award, if not the top award, for the best high school newspaper in the country. The aim of the paper is to create a school spirit and unity by acquainting students with the activities of George Washington.

Pep Club Contributes to School Enthusiasm

The members of the George Washington Pep Club were selected on the basis of academic standing, citizenship, and posture. They performed numerous services for the school and community as well as raised enthusiastic cheers at sports activities and pep rallies.

As its first activity, the club made and sold green and white shakers and held its Installation Brunch on September 19th at Baur's Cherry Creek.

On October 15th the club members presented the Washington homecoming dance, "Flame!" They also participated in the Veterans Day parade. During the half time of the Washington-South football game they saluted the eight schools of the Denver Public School System in their drill, led by drill captains Carol Dickenson and Carol Roslund.

Honor Club Stresses Scholastic Ability

The George Washington Honor Club, the purposes of which are to recognize scholastic achievement, to create and develop intellectual interests, and to uphold high standards and ideals, is comprised of juniors attaining a 3.75 average and seniors attaining a 3.5 average. Their meetings consist of either a speaker, movie, or discussion.

As part of their function, the Honor Club sponsors the academic awards in the spring, the speech contests, a Christmas project, and is looking into the possibility of sponsoring a foreign student. Most of the members serve the school one period a day by working in the records office, in the college counseling office, or with Mr. Serafini or Mrs. Vinyard.

AS PART of their daily schedule, three members of the Honor Club work in the records office with Mr. Croley.

"LUCY" AND "SCHROEDER" seem to disagree on the proper way to say good night after the Senior Fall Dance.

Spirit Promoted by Senior Fall Program

"Charlie Brown Goes to the Prom," a skit presented by members of the Senior class, was the main feature of the senior assembly. The seniors promoted class dues and activities by portraying characters from the comic strip, "Peanuts."

The assembly was given to encourage class spirit and to present the senior identification cards. The idea of senior dues was also introduced. This was one of the many class activities that contributed to a well-rounded school year.

"CHARLIE BROWN" and friends discuss their dates for the senior prom.

SENIORS ENJOY "Perspective," the first activity of the Senior Class.

"Perspective" is Theme of Senior Fall Dance

The Senior Fall Dance, a fund raising project for the Senior class, was held on Saturday, November 19th, in the Washington gym. The theme, "Perspective," was effectively carried out by the decorations, which consisted of abstract forms and mobiles. Honored guests were the senior class sponsors, Miss Munsell and Mr. DiTolla. Committee chairmen were Linda Beardshear, decorations; Sue Williams, publicity and courtesy; Bobbie Peterson, theme and bid; Jim Needham, band.

"Flame" Chosen Homecoming Dance Title

Colorful yellow, orange, and red crepe paper streamers representing flames decorated the gym at the Pep Club dance, "Flame," on October 24th. The highlight of the dance was the crowning of Washington's first Homecoming Queen, Miss Sharon Woods. Wayne Case and his orchestra provided the music.

The queen candidates were Chris Bower, Cathy Cramer, Elaine Facer, Cindy Pate, Lynn Preblud, and Sharon Woods.

MISS SHARON WOODS happily accepts the congratulations of her escort, Rino Morganti.

MISS SHARON WOODS, Homecoming Queen, attended South High School before entering George Washington. As a sophomore, she was Color Day Sophomore Princess. While a junior, she was Pom-Pom girl for the Pep Club, Junior Prom Chairman, and a Junior Escort. At present she is a member of the Student Council and is an Honorary Cadet. The clubs that she belongs to are Junior Red Cross and Tri-Hi-Y.

Patriots Take Second in State Championship

George Washington's varsity football squad, after starting slowly, finished in a first place tie in the Denver league, and gained a berth in the state playoffs. Having crushed Grand Junction 13 to 7, the Patriots were defeated by the powerful Lakewood Tigers 35 to 20. Behind 21 to 0 at the half, the Patriots fought back to score twenty points.

In the first game of the season, the Patriots edged Jefferson 7 to 6 in a hard-fought game. Meeting East in the second game, the Patriots overpowered them 19 to 0. They remained undefeated until the West game, when they were upset 12 to 6. The highlight of the season occurred when the Patriots crushed highly-rated South. Utilizing rugged line play and hard running, they upset the powerful Rebels, 20 to 0. The following week the Patriots clinched their first city championship by defeating Manual.

Chosen for All-City honors were Stan Irvine, Hadley Pullen, Steve Shuster, Reno Morganti, and John Waygood. Stan Irvine also was named on the All-Metropolitan and All-State team.

Junior Gridders Tie For Top City Honors

The juniors' enthusiastic spirit led them to a co-championship with East. They set a record of six wins and one tie, and allowed only four opposing touchdowns during the entire season. A strong defense was their most valuable asset and as with the varsity team, their greatest downfall was fumbling. The juniors certainly have the potential to supply Washington with another good varsity team.

Sophomores Complete First Grid Season

The Sophomore football team, although they lacked necessary speed and size, gained valuable grid experience. Coached by Paul Vaughn, they were trained in the basic fundamentals.

Following a slow start, the sophomores showed definite improvement toward the end of the season.

They defeated North and Lincoln and gained a tie with West.

Thirty-two players were awarded numerals.

Due to the experience and knowledge gained through constant and intense practice, the sophomores are likely to bring football success to George Washington in future seasons.

Patriot Golfers Finish First in City League

George Washington's first golf team defeated East and Jefferson to capture the city crown. Two undefeated members, Jon Streltzer and Buddy Hyman, missed one match and were unable to go all-city. Pete Williams, the first man on the team, was the comedalist in the pre-season medal play. Eight of the eleven team members perform regularly, while the other three fill in for those unable to play. The matches were played at Overland, City Park, and Willis Case golf courses.

Tennis Team Takes First in City League

The Washington tennis team did extremely well in its first year of competition. Defeating its closest rivals, East and South, with 5-1 victories, the team captured the city championship.

Chips Barry, the only member sent to the state tournament, was eliminated in the first round.

Those who participated and won their letters were: John Armitage, Chips Barry, Mike Faith, Dave French, Ken Greene, Ron Hahn, Ed Langdon, Les Levitt, Bob Mandel, and Mike Robineau.

Washington Runners Place 5th in City

Washington's cross-country team, consisting primarily of new and inexperienced members, captured fifth place in the City-Meet. Jeb Bauer, running in his first City-Meet, took individual honors for the Patriots by placing fifth.

Cross-Country meets take place during the halftime of Varsity football games. The season begins early in September and continues for two months, culminating with the City-Meet and the State-Meet at Boulder. The squad is comprised of an A team made up of the five top runners and a B team which includes the remainder of the squad.

Silver Snowflakes Adorn Junion Prom

Spirals and snowflakes of silver suspended from the ceiling, and ropes of silvered greens strung from basket to basket surrounding a silver tree decorated the gym on December 17th.

At 11:00 p.m., John Kobayashi, junior class president, crowned Arlene Friedman the first junior prom queen of George Washington. Other queen candidates presented were: Nancy Autrey, Barbie Bowes, Ginny Myre, Lynn Preblud, Alice Bradford, and Judy Powers.

The music was provided by Steve McNichols and his band.

MISS ARLENE FRIEDMAN, Junior Prom Queen

MISS ARLENE FRIEDMAN, Junior Prom Queen, has had many activities both at East high and here at Washington. As a sophomore at East, she was Sophomore Class Treasurer and on the float committee. She was also sophomore May Queen Attendant. Here at Washington, she was on the Advisory council and is a member of the Student council. As a Student council member she was in charge of royalty and decorations for the Junior Prom. In addition she is in the Political Science club and was previously in the Symposium club.

MISS DONNA DE LA OSSA and MR. WALLY HULTIN, Patriot Pair

Patriot Pair Selected at Birthday Ball

"The Birthday Ball," one of the most successful dances of the year, was held on February 18th. Sponsored by the Student council, the dance was named in honor of George Washington's birthday. A large birthday cake, streamers, balloons and pictures of chocolate sundaes decorated the gym. Two outstanding features of the dance were that refreshments were served and that there was student entertainment during one of the band intermissions. Donna de la Ossa and Wally Hultin were chosen as the Patriot Pair. Their attendants were: Cindy Pate and Stan Irvine, Judy Powers and Rino Morganti, Barbie Lane and Steve Cain, Cathy Cramer and Steve Shuster and Elaine Facer and Doug Clifford. The band was the Hilltoppers.

MISS MARY ELLEN FREESE

1961 Heritage First Lady

The 1961 Heritage First Lady, Mary Ellen Freese has proven herself one of the most outstanding individuals at George Washington. In addition to being recently selected as the D.A.R. Award winner, she is active in many school activities.

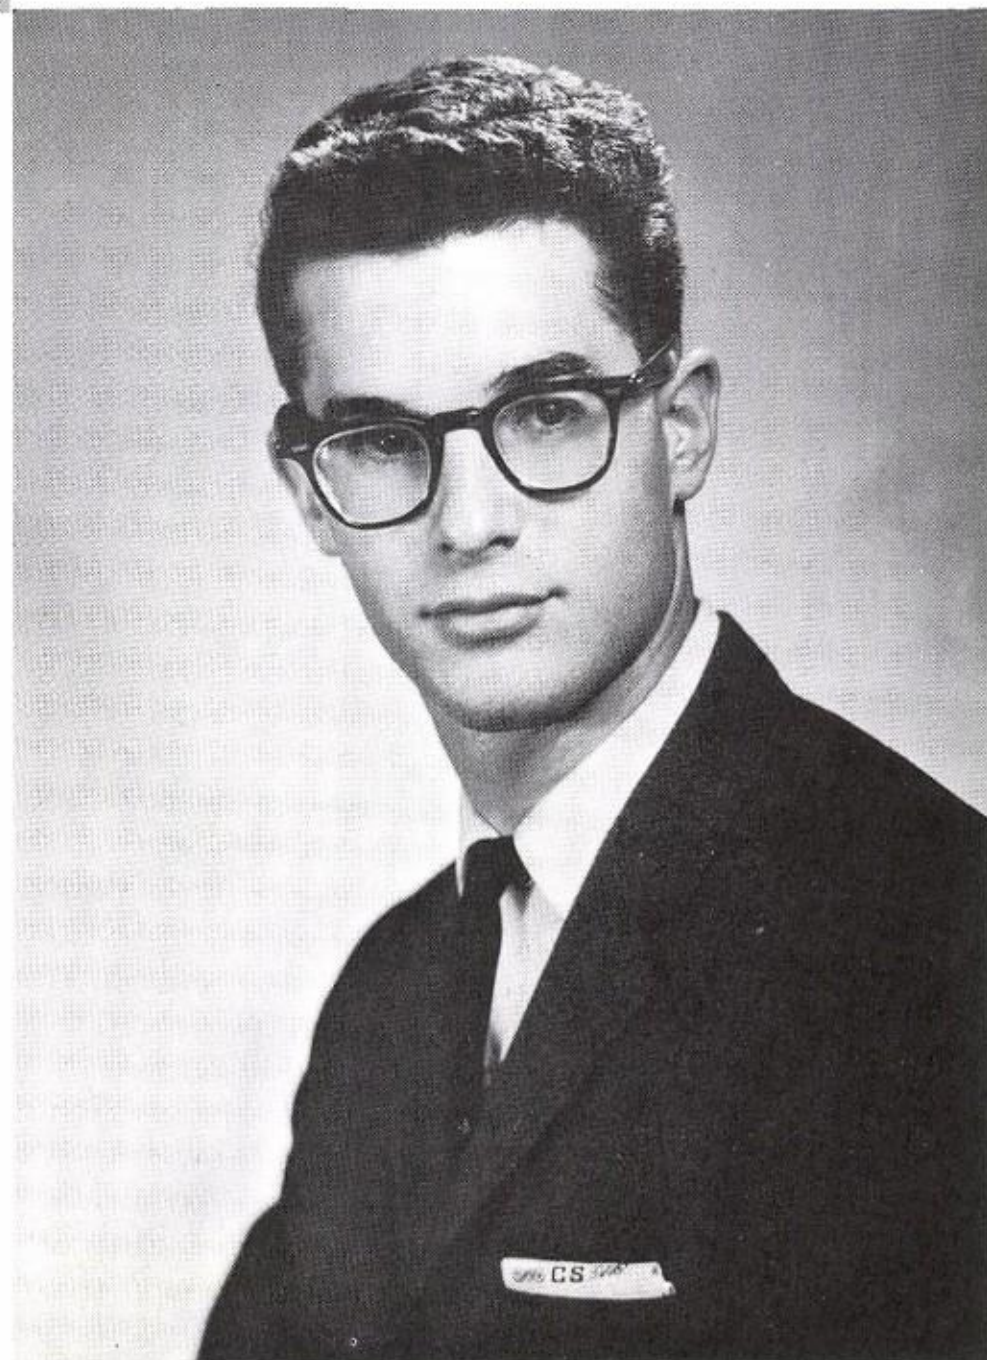

When at East High, Mary Ellen was a member of the Tri-Hi-Y Club, Delegate Assembly and Student Council. She also participated in the All-School show, Council Capers, and was a Junior Escort, a Junior Prom Queen Attendant, a May Queen Attendant and a Wolcott Finalist.

Here at Washington, she is Vice-President of the Honor Club, a member of Future Teachers of America Club, a member of the Student Council and Advisory Committee and Consul of the Junior Classical League. Congratulations and best wishes are in order to Mary Ellen from the 1961 Heritage Staff.

MR. CHARLES STERN

1961 Heritage President

The 1961 Heritage President, Charles Stern, has participated in many activities throughout his high school years. Now president of the Honor Club, member of the Symposium Club, and member of the Political Science Club, he was Junior Class President, on All-City Student Council, on Delegate Assembly, a member of the Euclidian Club, a member of the Junior Classical League, a Junior Usher and a member of Student Council at East. Charles was also a finalist in the Woodbury Oratory Contest. The 1961 Heritage Staff congratulates Charles for being selected for this honor and wishes him success in the future.

Gov. McNichols Chooses Heritage Royalty

The Heritage staff was privileged to have Governor Steve McNichols select the 1961 President and First Lady of the George Washington High School Heritage. This honorary title is given each year to the boy and girl at Washington who exemplify the high standards at George Washington.

Mary Ellen Freese, Ginny Myre, Jan Shacklett,

Rob Colwell, Stan Irvine and Charles Stern were chosen on the basis of personal appearance and various honors and activities of their high school years.

Governor McNichols expressed his difficulty in choosing the couple commenting, "This is worse than the annexation bill!"

MEMBERS of the Heritage staff await the decision of Governor Steve McNichols on the Heritage President and First Lady.

MR. SAM WALDMAN, on behalf of the student body, accepts the city championship trophy from Les Levitt.

"BUY A HERITAGE, it's later than you think . . ."

The George Washington concert choir, under the direction of Mrs. Violette McCarthy, presents the Christmas assembly.

Winter Assemblies Highlight Semester

Several assemblies highlighted the first semester of the school year. Among these were the various winter programs, which presented numerous topics to the student body.

Included in these assemblies were the Christmas assembly, programs presented by the Band and Orchestra of Washington, an Athletic Awards assembly, and an assembly given by the Heritage Staff.

Each of the winter assemblies played a large part in contributing to the season's activities.

Inter-Club Council Furthers Club Unity

During the first year of Washington's existence, the Inter-Club Council offered a helping hand to the school's clubs, and provided them with a common purpose, although they were diversified in their interests.

The council members, one from each club and one from the two publication staffs, met to promote club unity and organization, to offer advice on the writing of constitutions and procedures of attendance, and to discuss common club problems which arose throughout the year.

Political Science Reviews '61 Election

Care to overthrow the Glendale government? Political Science Club members endeavored to do just this to gain practical experience in the mechanics of political science, according to Mr. Burkey, sponsor.

The goal for the club is to promote and facilitate a better understanding of current politics through the study of power structures and struggles. This year such activities as student discussions, panels, and debates maintained the interest of the members.

Also participating in the club's programs were guest speakers of various political beliefs including Mr. Howard Wallace, representative of the Colorado Socialist Workers Party; Mr. Homill, former Republican Speaker of the Colorado House of Representatives; Mr. Harvey Springer, Socialist political figure in Colorado; Mr. L. Knous, Lt. Gov. of Colorado; and Gov. Steve McNichols. The club members also analyzed and criticized the 1961 Presidential elections, presenting arguments both for and against the candidates and their campaigns.

Lettermen Organize Elite of Athletics

"D" Club, to which all Washington lettermen belong, and in which every sport is represented, functions primarily as an organization of service to the school. In addition to discussing problems and activities of the Washington athletic program and promoting good sportsmanship, the members supervised the parking lots, assisted in a spring city-wide track meet for junior high school students, and organized meetings for the discussion of college entrance requirements and available scholarships.

THE WASHINGTON FTA hosts a tea for prospective members and representatives from other schools.

Teaching Potential Cultivated in FTA

Future Teachers of America offers to members pre-vocational information and experience, designed to assist and encourage students interested in the teaching profession.

During the club's first year in existence at Washington, the members had the opportunity to attend various conferences, such as that held at the Olin Hotel in October, the Mid-Year Educational Conference held at Greeley in January, and the State FTA Convention, held at Glenwood Springs in April.

The year's projects included the organization of a panel of student teachers at Washington and a tea for prospective members and representatives from other schools. The club members also looked into the possibility of founding a traditional "Teachers' Day" at Washington, to honor the school's fine faculty. Club meetings were supplemented by guest speakers and movies on the fundamentals of education and teaching.

Forensic Club Gains National Recognition

The George Washington Forensic club is composed of students who are interested in becoming capable and arousing speakers. By giving speeches before other club members, students become familiar with speech-making techniques and skills, and gain valuable experience which leads to the confidence and forensic eloquence possessed by outstanding speakers and orators.

This year the Forensic club members represented Washington in inter-school debate and in local speech competition, such as the Tri-State Speech Meet held during March at Boulder. Earlier in the year, the club had qualified for a one-year charter membership in the National Forensic League.

Gary Kopff, Mike Radetsky, Alan Friedman, Fred Cohn, Rick Caldwell, and Bruce Heitler, members of the Speech Club, evaluate various debating techniques.

Model Teens Place Emphasis on Charm

Activities related to proper grooming and self-improvement make up the agenda of the Model Teens Club, which endeavors to instruct its members on charm, poise, fashions, and proper carriage.

This year, under the sponsorship of Miss Imogene Springer and Mrs. Mary Gentile, club members heard speakers from Powers and Morganti Modeling Agencies, who demonstrated the proper application of make-up and presented other ideas on personal grooming. Early in the year, an airline stewardess spoke to the girls about the training and qualifications necessary for entering this field.

The highlight of the year was the spring fashion show presented by Tinn's of Aurora, which was held in April at the Brown Palace West. Models selected from the club displayed the latest summer fashions to an audience of Washington students and their mothers.

MODEL TEEN MEMBERS gather around a representative from Samsonite Luggage, who is demonstrating the correct and convenient method of packing.

GATHERING around the piano, members of the Music Club sing a rendition of "Scarlet Ribbons," later to be analyzed by the listening club members.

Music Club Studies Folk Songs, Origins

Membership in the Music Club presents the opportunity for the exploration and development of the member's musical talent. This year the group, under the direction of Mrs. Violette McCarthy, sang and studied origins of folk music, with special emphasis on Jewish folk songs. Included in the club's yearly agenda was the preparation and performance of a medley of folk songs for the student body and outside organizations. Another activity planned by the committees was a picnic to be held at the end of the year.

Delphian Promotes Literary Interest

Delphian originated as a club whose aim was creative writing and the completing of a pamphlet of Washington High School. Its purpose soon changed to the reading and discussion of books, more conducive to over-all participation. Books stimulating interest and high appreciation were Animal Farm and Child Buyer, a satire on modern education. Mr. William Koerber served as a thought-provoking discussion leader in these learning experiences.

WHILE MR. KOERBER offers a new viewpoint, Literary Club members participate in a discussion of existentialism as seen in "The Stranger" by Albert Camus.

TRI-HI-Y "politicians" discuss the bills which will be submitted to the mock legislature during Youth and Government.

Tri-Hi-Y Legislates Model Citizenship

Tri-Hi-Y is a club for girls desiring to aid the school through service projects, and to develop high standards of character. As their main activity, the group prepared for the pre-legislature session with Hi-Y representatives held at Boulder in February.

The "politicians" drew up bills which they submitted to the mock legislature, held in April in the Colorado State House and Senate, as part of their annual Youth and Government program. In order to raise funds for this program, Tri-Hi-Y sponsored a car wash.

In addition to legislative activities, the members visited an assortment of churches, synagogues, and temples, to broaden their understanding of the different denominations.

Bi-weekly meetings were supplemented by such speakers as Dr. Carleton Babbs, Minister at Park Hill Methodist Church, and representatives from D.U., who spoke on the topic of college entrance.

ENTHUSIASTIC Tri-Hi-Y members combine their talents and hold a car wash to raise money for the Youth and Government Program.

Hi-Y Members Assist In Good Will Drive

To afford its members with the opportunity to become useful and constructive citizens is the purpose of Hi-Y, which is affiliated with the Y.M.C.A. and sponsored by Mr. Robert Brannberg.

In conjunction with the club's World Service Program, the Washington Hi-Y and Tri-Hi-Y produced a variety show and assisted in the collection of clothing during the school's Good Will Drive. The members participated in a basketball tournament conducted among several Hi-Y clubs. Bi-weekly meetings consisted of guest speakers and movies such as "Twenty Years of the World Series," on diversified topics of interest to the members.

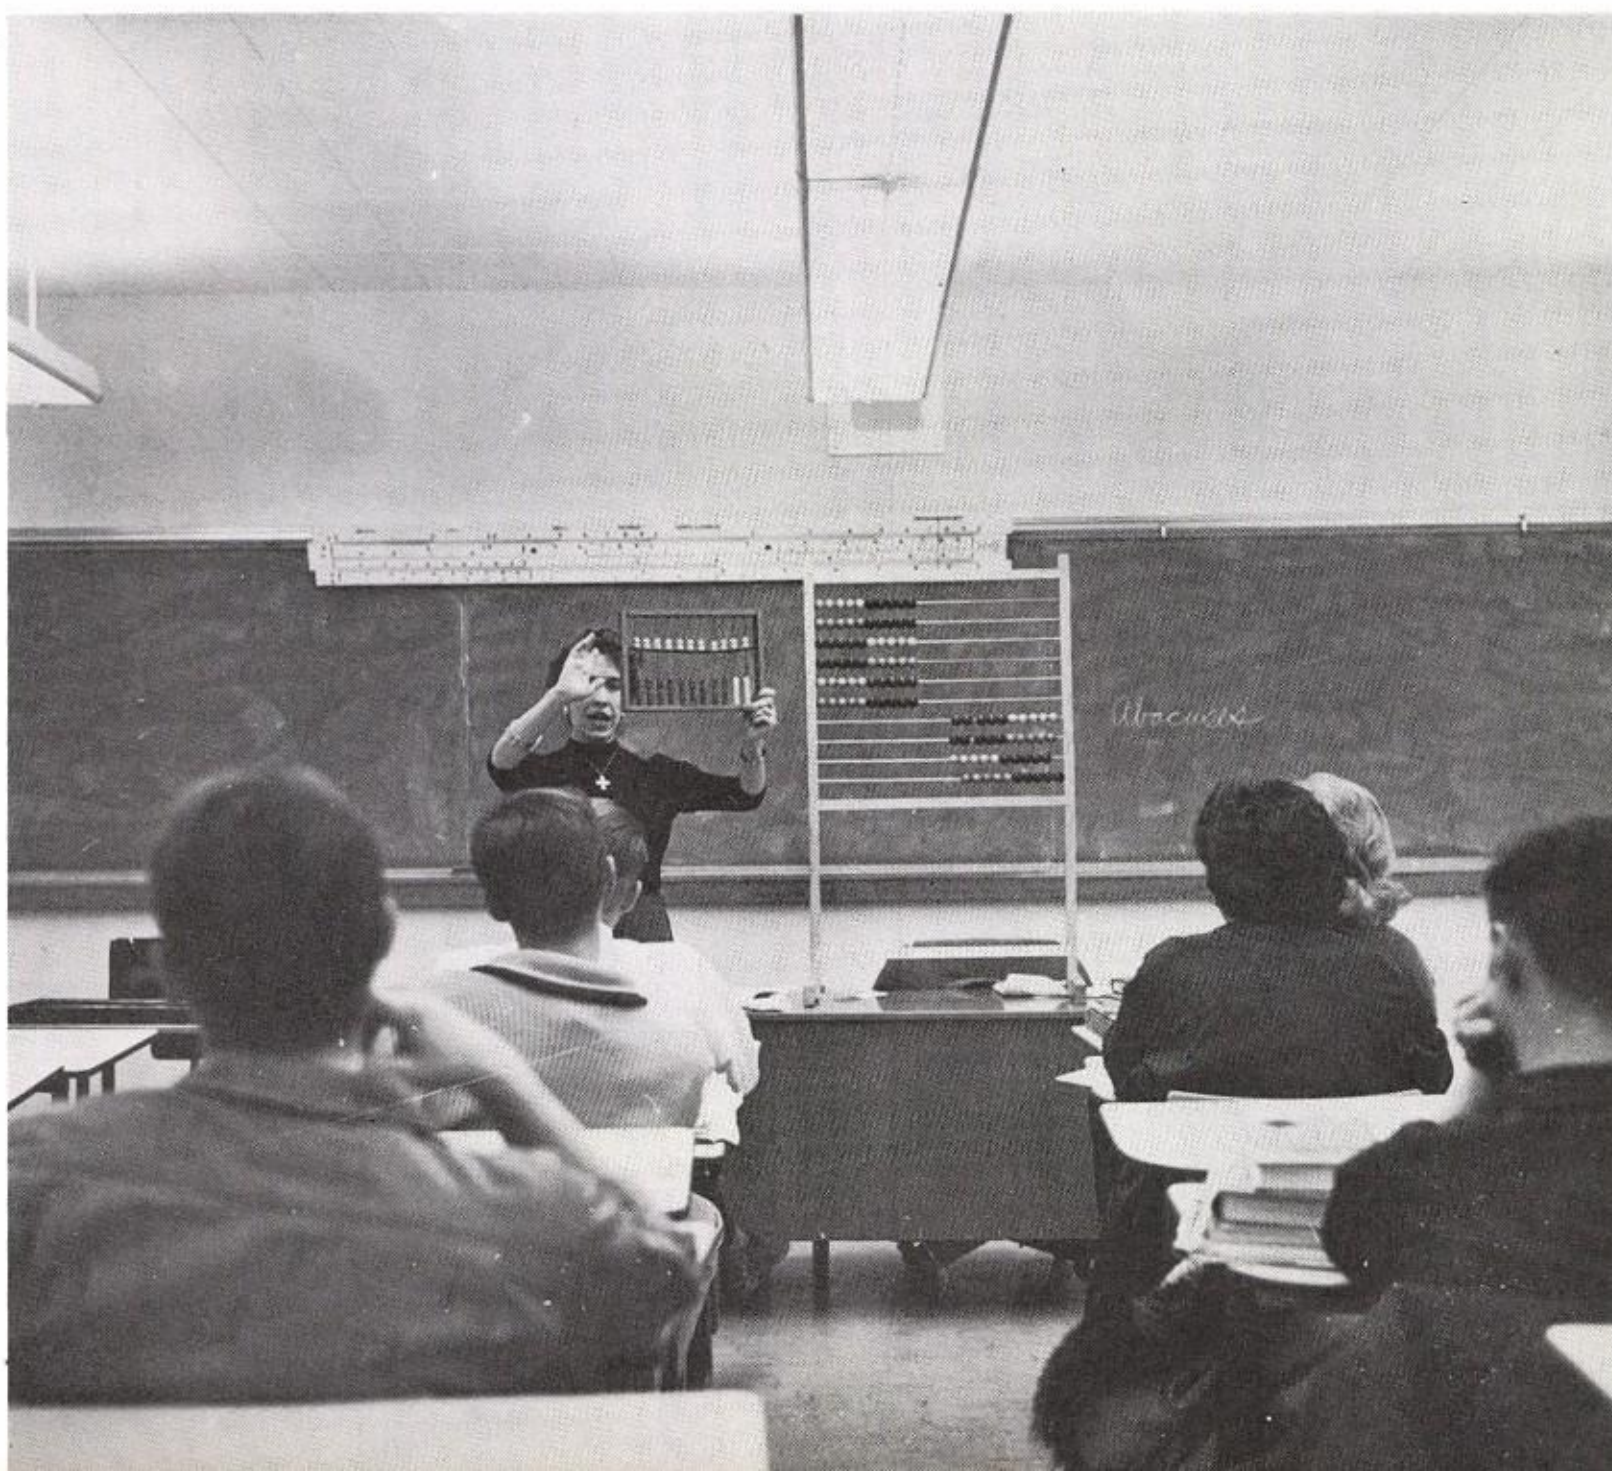

Math Club Explores Numerical Theories

Inverse Functions presents to interested students the opportunity to acquaint themselves with mathematical theories, concepts, and functions, not ordinarily studied in the classroom.

The promotion of interest and proficiency in mathematics and related fields was acquired this year through such club activities as student projects, investigations into the history and science of numbers, movies, and lectures by representatives of industries, colleges, and by the club members themselves.

AN AUTHORITY in the field of mathematical functions demonstrates with the abacus the Oriental method of multiplication.

Production Develops Dramatic Dexterity

Membership in the Drama Club offers the opportunity to gain experience in interpreting and producing plays, to develop one's creative talents, and to discover one's acting potential. In accordance with the numerous activities in which a member participates, he receives points which entitle him to membership in the Thespian Society.

In April the club's first three-act production, "Letters to Lucerne," was presented to the public. The cast was headed by Linda Oakford and Monty Hoyt, and all members combined their efforts in stage work, direction, make-up, and final presentation.

Meetings, outside of play rehearsals, consisted of speakers from drama departments of various schools and presentation and interpretation of skits.

APPRAISING a member's artwork for line and expression enables fellow students to obtain new ideas and to greater their own artistic ability.

Artistic Expression Manifested in Mural

For the purpose of giving Washington a distinction, creating a tradition, and imparting to the student body an appreciation of art, members of the Art Club strived to pictorially describe Washington's life as paralleled with our many hopes for the future of Washington High School. The painting of this mural was the club's main project.

The Art Club gives interested students a chance to further themselves, become aware of art's place in society, and reveal to others its significance. Speakers presented their views on art in society and its influence on our culture.

Science Club Pursues Elements of Unknown

The Science Club, sponsored by Mr. John Brennan, endeavors to provoke scientific interest, and to stimulate research and experimentation in the field of modern science and current affairs.

Included in this year's activities were movies on modern application of science, lectures by guest speakers from A. T. and T. Co., the Bell Telephone Co.,

and the Martin Plant, as well as student participation in various scientific projects and demonstrations. Several of the club members received recognition for projects which they entered at this year's Metropolitan Science Fair, held in March at the Denver University fieldhouse.

SCIENCE CLUB MEMBER Rob Colwell explains to fellow scientists his exhibit, "Albino Maize in Photosynthetic Experimentation," which placed first in the Colorado-Wyoming Science Fair.

MEMBERS of the Jr. Red Cross Club show their patriotism by collecting toys for the Santa Claus Shop, where underprivileged families may purchase them.

JRC Offers Service To Less Fortunate

To generously serve others is the purpose of the Washington Jr. Red Cross, sponsored by Miss Rachael Taul. The club members attempted to carry out this aim in each of their activities.

As a result of their concern for others, the members sponsored the International Assistance Drive, which helps the needy overseas, the collection of toys for the Santa Claus Shop, which provides Christmas gifts for underprivileged families, and participated in the Teen-Age March of Dimes Drive. Also as one of the club's main projects, auditions of Washington talent were held, and the club produced and presented several talent shows for patients of Veterans, Fitzsimons, and other hospitals, as well as planned holiday parties and made favors for the patients of hospitals, charity organizations, and homes for the aged.

Aliquis pro Latina ..Anyone for Latin?

The George Washington Junior Classical League, whose purpose is to encourage among advanced Latin students an interest in Roman customs, civilization, and mythology, is one of the two thousand chapters of the national organization. Each spring it sends representatives to the state convention, which will be held at Colorado Springs this year. As one of its special projects, the club is studying elementary Greek. A questionnaire was circulated throughout the student body to determine of what benefit Latin is to students.

Pre Med Encourages Doctors of Tomorrow

The Pre-Med Club offers students interested in the various fields of medicine the advantage of pre-vocational information and experience.

This year's speakers included Dr. Sherer, who spoke on narcotics and alcoholism, and a doctor from Denver General who spoke of emergencies which arise in a hospital. The club members also viewed medical films and, as a special project, participated in the Tubercular Test Experiment for the National Jewish Hospital.

A number of girls in the club toured several of the city's hospitals, and a second group of students observed an operation performed by a veterinarian, as well as an operation at Mercy Hospital.

MEMBERS of the Pre-Med club examine the human skull during one of their many investigations of anatomy.

IRC Members Debate Communist Challenge

The stimulation of interest in international relations and related fields is the goal of the International Relations Club, the main topic of which this year is the United States and the Communist Challenge. Speakers, slides, and group discussions presented the members with the opportunity to become familiar with basic applications, as well as the meaning and importance, of international diplomacy.

Representatives were elected from the club to attend the State I.R.C. Conference, held in December at the University of Denver, and the State United Nations Conference, held in April at Greeley.

Key Club Sponsors Charity Ball For C.A.R.E.

Sponsored by Mr. Grant Wickard, the Washington Key Club endeavors to develop initiative, good citizenship, and leadership in its members, and to provide experience in working together for the school and community.

In conjunction with the club's affiliation with the Denver Kiwanis club, the members assisted in several Kiwanis projects, and, when necessary, assisted the school administration. The members, early in the year, conducted a survey of jobs open to students in this area of the city, and made it available to interested Patriots.

In February the club, together with the Key clubs of three other schools, presented "Internationale," the first annual benefit ball for C.A.R.E. at the Cosmopolitan Hotel.

During the summer vacation, a convention is held, which is attended by boys selected from the Key clubs throughout the United States.

KEY CLUB President, Ken Greene, discusses the club's participation in the community Good Will Drive with several members.

Girls' Rifle Club

Aims for Accuracy

Girls interested in becoming expert marksmen constitute the Girls' Rifle Club. The members this year used rifles furnished by the N.D.C.C. and practiced on Washington's rifle range.

Although the emphasis was placed on accuracy, the girls also concentrated on the proper care and handling of the gun. Throughout the year the members met other Denver schools in competition.

UNDER the supervision of Major Robertus and sponsor Mrs. Dortha Browning, a member of the Girls' Rifle club, takes careful aim during target practice.

Bowling Club Executes Leadership and Skill

The bowling club, which functions once a week, is divided into groups for boys and girls. It provides an opportunity for the beginning bowler to acquire skill through regular sessions and become an important part in team play.

Membership in the league also offers opportunities for honors and awards. An exhibition league, "Toppers and Topperettes," consists of forty top bowlers in the city chosen from the various clubs. Eligibility requires outstanding sportsmanship and leadership as well as the maintenance of a high bowling average.

Trophies for highest averages were awarded at a Spring luncheon.

Skiers Pursue Proficiency and Pleasure

Skiers, both the novice and the expert, that are interested in pleasure and proficiency compose the Ski club, sponsored by Miss Patricia Nutter.

The club chartered buses throughout the year to the numerous skiing areas in the region, and at special meetings, presented movies of professional skiers, who demonstrated the various jumps and turns.

In preparation for spring competition and to determine the girls' and boys' racing teams, a series of time trials were held, and in March Washington skiers competed in the Mile High Ski Meet, which is entered each year by most of the Denver High Schools. The girls' racing team won first place and, as a result, will be next year's co-sponsors, along with Colorado Academy, of the race.

One of the highlights of the year was the January fashion show, which displayed the latest in equipment and ski wear, courtesy of the Eskimo Ski Shop.

Mock Trials Give Valuable Experience

The Pre-law club has not only an interest in law, but also an appreciation of the arts. During the semester change they viewed a D.C. Truckers game, and in March they heard the Colorado Supreme Court Justice speak. In April the club held a mock trial, giving the members valuable experience in courtroom procedure.

'61 Club Unitive of Seniors Serving GW

The Washington '61 Club, an honorary organization comprised of members of the first graduating class, acts to unite and give recognition to seniors who have given of their time and talent to serve Washington in any one of various ways.

Some of the activities which qualified a senior to become a member of the '61 Club were serving in student government, participating in school athletics, being a member of a service club or class committee. Teachers' assistants and students who had won prizes and honors in Washington's name also qualified.

Although the '61 Club does not function as do other school sponsored clubs, the members attended meetings and participated in projects, the purpose of which was to serve Washington.

Patriots Capture State Basketball Crown

The Washington basketball team, directed by coach Bill Weimar, raced to the city championship in the newly-expanded Denver league, and then went on to capture the state AAA crown.

In city competition Washington won 13 games, dropping only one to the East Angels. In first round play the Patriots started fast, conquering Manual 41-31 in the league opener before defeating South 47-40. Entering the second round with a 7-0 record, the team edged Manual 50-48 with Bert Palmer's sudden death layup. The following week the Patriots could not cope with a spirited Angel five, losing 50-32.

For his all-around play and court leadership, Russ Casement was selected for the All-City team. Other players honored were Bob Berenbaum, Stan Irvine, Mark Levine, Bert Palmer and Hadley Pullen.

In the state tournament Washington came from behind to defeat the Wheat Ridge Farmers 67-64 in the play-off opener. The following night the Patriots crushed Colorado Springs' Palmer 75-53. Playing Pueblo South in the state championship game, Washington emerged victorious in the most thrilling game of the season. With only three seconds remaining in overtime play, guard Mark Levine scored on a short jumper to give the Patriots a 70-69 victory.

Chosen for the All-State team were Russ Casement, Hadley Pullen and Stan Irvine. Junior Ed Howsam was selected for the second team.

Junior Basketball Team Places Fifth In City

Under coach John DiTolla, the junior varsity basketball squad completed its first season with a 6 and 8 record, finishing fifth in the league. Their most impressive game was a 69-56 victory over the South Rebels.

Junior Bob Berenbaum, a frequent varsity starter toward the end of the season, led the team scoring with a 15.1 average, followed by Ed Howsam and Tad Polumbus. Bucketing 35 points, Ed Howsam produced the highest single output in the season closer against Lincoln.

The starting team consisted of Berenbaum, Howsam, Polumbus, Bob Belt and either Tom Mackenzie or Tripp Owen at the remaining position.

Members of the junior squad who played enough varsity basketball to earn their letter were Berenbaum, Howsam and Polumbus. Both Berenbaum and Howsam were key factors in the Patriot victories in the state play-offs.

TRIPP OWEN controls a tip-off as the Washington-East game commences.

Training and experience prepare sophomores

Although the true potential and the true ability were not shown in the season record, the Sophomore basketball team had a successful season under the able leadership of Paul Vaughn.

Plagued by numerous injuries and the intermittent losses of starters, Gary Weisbly, Rick Albert and Jim McIntire, the sophomores ended the season with a 5 and 12 record. However, they lost three games by one point and two games by two points. In the Adams City post-season tournament, they were edged by Lincoln in an overtime. During season play, the sophomores defeated Lincoln twice.

Jim McIntire led the team in scoring, followed by Gary Weisbly and Rick Albert. Two sophomores, Bob Belt and Tad Polumbus, started for the Junior varsity.

WASHINGTON MERMEN take starting dives in swimming competition with South.

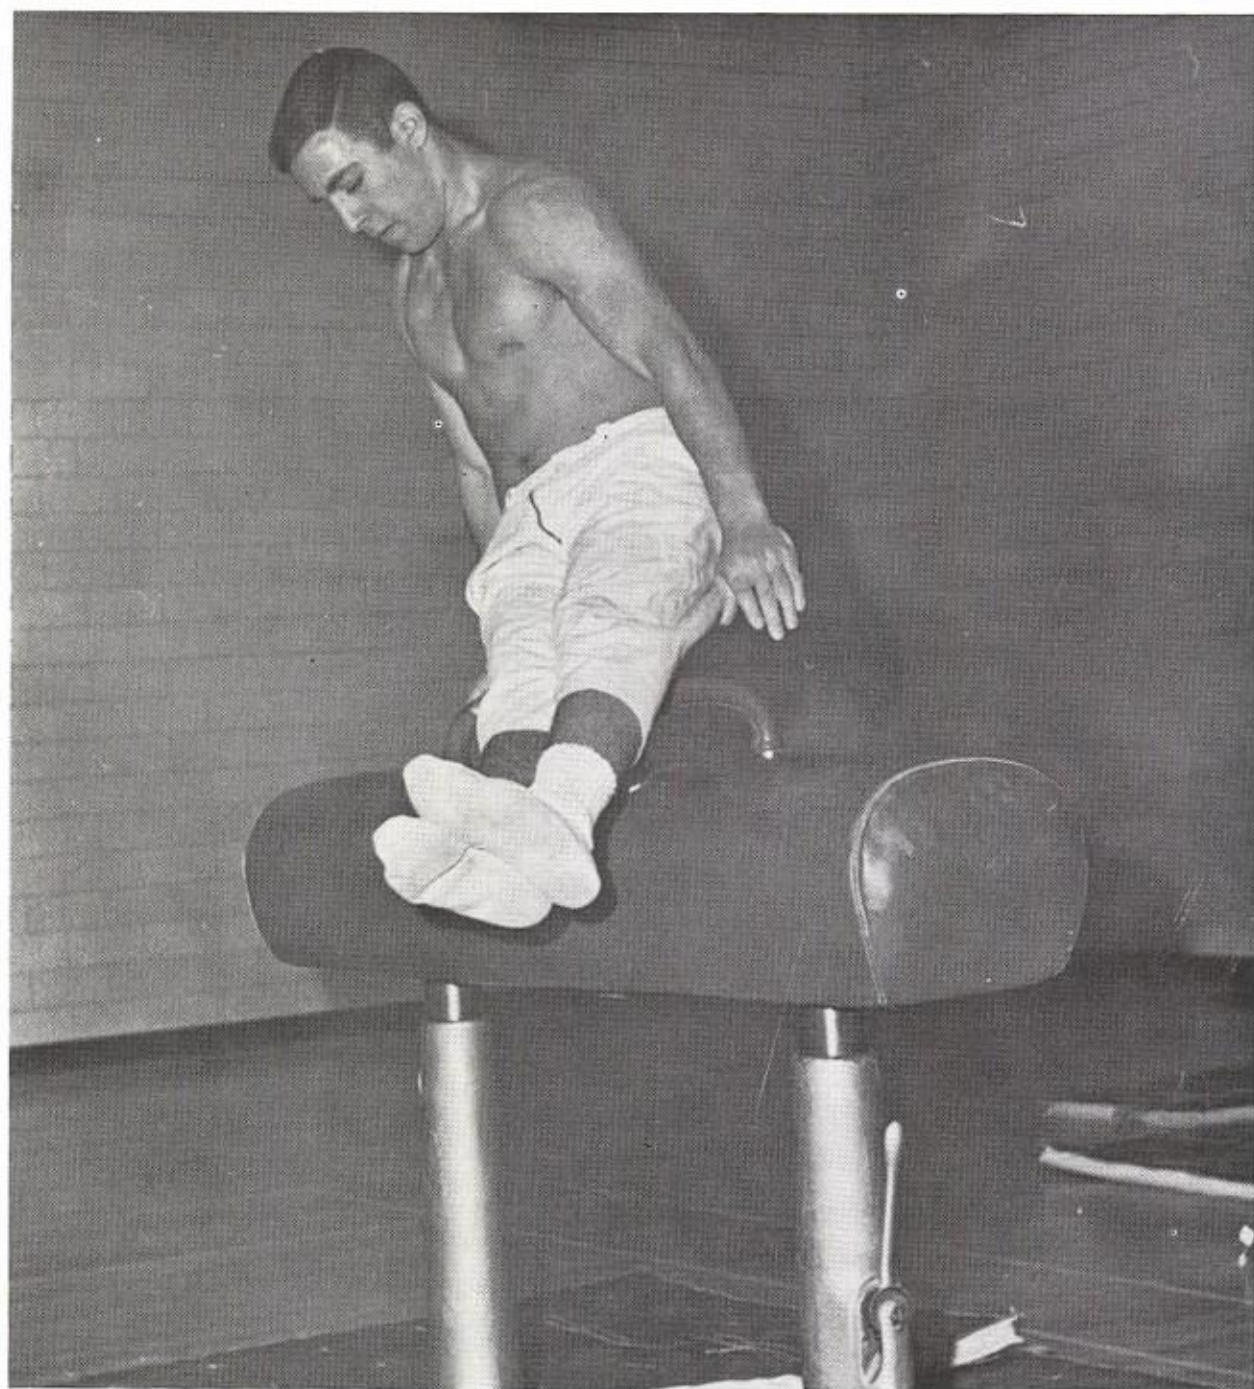

Patriots Secure State Swimming Title

The Washington team, whose score was almost double that of the second place team's total, captured the state crown.

Wally Hultin and Jim Plattner shattered both city and state records in separate meets.

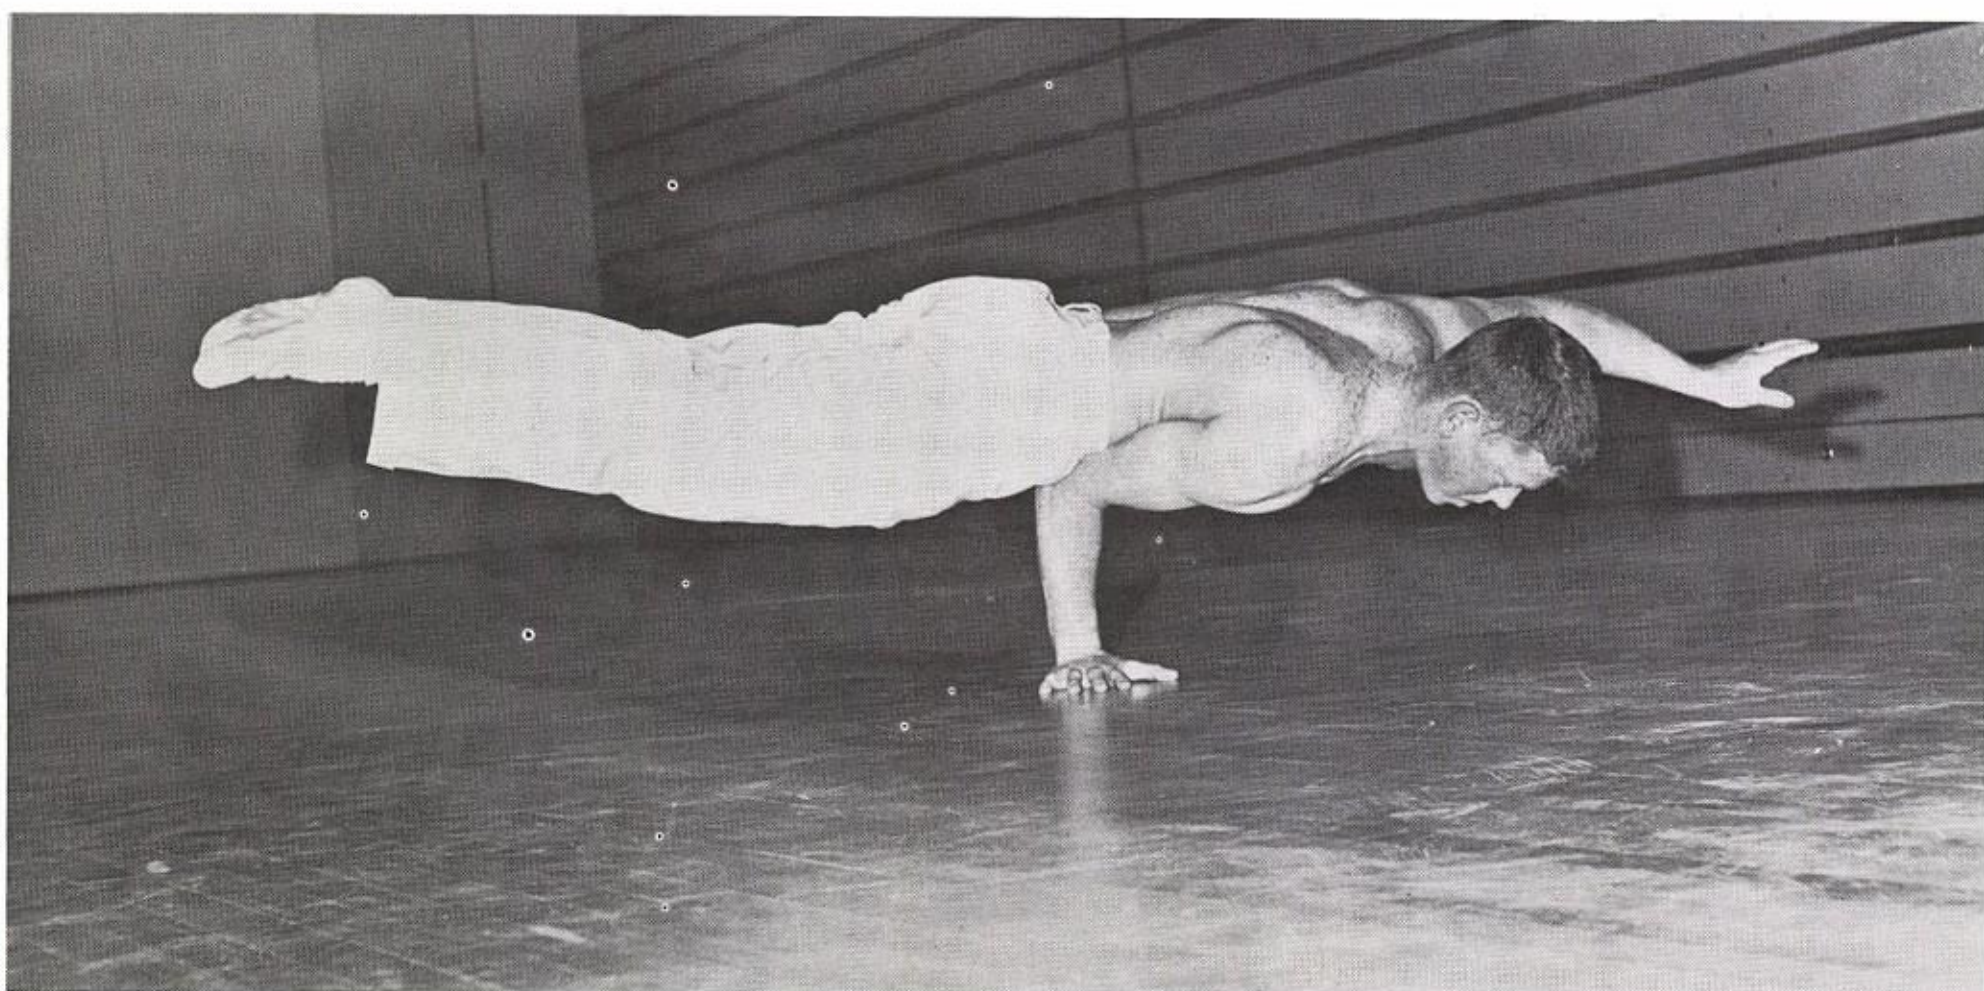

Eleven members of the team gained all-city honors, as a result of the team's triumph. Those swimmers who received honors are: Wally Hultin, Ken Simon, Jim Plattner, Brent Brandenburg, Tim Roberts, Tod Brown, Russ Gragg, Pete Fowler, Steve Fowler, Mark Lee, and Gary Layman. The three team members who won all-state honors include: Jim Plattner (200 and 400-yard freestyles), Tod Brown (100-yard butterfly), and Wally Hultin (100-yard freestyle and 200-yard individual medley).

BOB WEINSTEIN displays excellent coordination as he works on the side horse.

GARY DWYER, balancing on one hand, performs a difficult free-exercise stunt.

Gymnastics Team Does Well in State Meet

Washington ended a successful gymnastic season at the state meet by taking third place in the novice division and seventh place in the advanced. During the season's regular competition the Patriot team captured three second place titles and one first.

The outstanding members of the team include Paul Berzins, who placed in the city meet; Bob Barlow, Bud Miller, Pat Thomas, Jim Shroad, Bill Slifer, Ray Spears, Tod Brown, Russ Gragg, and Bob McCalon, who won titles at the state competition; and Gary Layman, who did equally well during the AAU contest. In addition to winning state titles, Bob Weinstein claimed a city title and Kent Kramer an AAU title.

Team prospects are very encouraging as there will be 10 lettermen which will head the gymnastic season next year.

Senior Prom Presented In 'Southern Gardens'

George Washington's first senior prom, "Southern Gardens," was presented in the Lincoln Room of the Shirley Savoy Hotel. Beautiful decorations enhanced an evening enjoyed by all. A Southern mansion adorned one wall, while a huge tree held attention in the center of the room. Music was played from 9 to 12 p.m. by Stuart Jackson's band.

The highlight of the evening was the crowning of the Senior Prom Queen. Each queen candidate's favorite song was played as she was escorted down the student-lined aisle. The crown was then presented to Miss Mary Ellen Freese, who reigned radiantly as Senior Prom Queen of the Class of 1961.

MISS MARY ELLEN FREESE, Senior Prom Queen

The climax of the senior prom was the selection of the prom queen from among the six candidates chosen by the senior class. At 11 p.m. Miss Mary Ellen Freese was crowned queen after she was escorted down the aisle by Dave French, as the band played her favorite song, "My Funny Valentine."

Mary Ellen has been an active patriot this year. Her activities have included Advisory council, All-school show, '61 club, Future Teachers of America club and Honor club. She has also served on Student council and in the Junior Classical League in addition to being chosen as Washington's D.A.R. Award winner.

At East high school, where she attended as a sophomore and then as a junior, Mary Ellen served as a Delegate Assembly representative, Junior Escort, Tri-Hi-Y member, Wolcott finalist, Junior Prom Queen attendant, May Queen attendant and as a member of the Principal's Advisory committee.

Other queen candidates and their escorts were Miss Sherri Blanc and Dave Charack, Miss Chris Bower and Glenn Clark, Miss Susie Williams and Ralph Achilles, Miss Sue Williams and Steve McNichols Jr. and Miss Paula Wilson and Doug Conrad.

MISS SUSAN DALE WILLIAMS, May Queen

MISS SUSAN DALE WILLIAMS, George Washington High School's first May Queen was every inch a queen as she reigned with regal grace over the Color day festivities.

Varied accomplishments preceded this well-deserved honor. Here at Washington, Susan is a member of the Concert choir, Concert orchestra, Jr. Red Cross, '61 club, Surveyor staff and Tri-Hi-Y. Also she has participated in the All-school show and is a Honorary Cadet.

Susie's activities at South High School include F.T.A., Student council and Junior Color Day Queen.

May Queen Crowned on Green and White Day

The activities at George Washington High School were based around the theme "Greenwich Village" for Color day 1961. The dress of the day was "Green-sleeves;" the morning swimming exhibition, "Green Peppers;" the class and faculty skits, "Green Doors;" the coronation, "Green Mansions;" and the track-meet, "Green Fields." The coronation of the May queen was the highlight of the events.

The auditorium stage was converted into a summer garden with the queen's throne, a swing, in the center. Miss Gail Heitler crowned the queen and the senior attendants paid homage to her by each giving her two roses which formed a beautiful bouquet. They in turn were given nosegays.

MISS JUDY POWERS

Junior Princess

Miss Judy Powers, the 1961 Junior class Color day princess, reigned beautifully over the class of '62 during the Color day activities.

This year at Washington she has been a Junior Prom Queen attendant, a Patriot Pair attendant, a member of General Assembly, and corresponding secretary of the Model Teens club.

MISS BARBARA LANE

Sophomore Princess

Miss Barbara Lane, the 1961 Sophomore class princess, reigned over the class of '63 at the Color day activities.

Busy in her first year of high school, she has been a member of the Student council and was selected as a Patriot Pair attendant.

GENERAL ASSEMBLY members discuss school business at a morning meeting.

General Assembly Organizes Activities

General Assembly offers students the opportunity to take part in school government. The delegates, elected by each first hour class, voice the opinions and suggestions of the students they represent. A report of each General Assembly meeting is given to the class, keeping the student body informed of school activities.

ROBIN LAWSON, Vice President of General Assembly, presents an important item to the representatives while Joan Van Bergen, Secretary, and Dave French, President, look on.

N. D. C. C.

When a young man makes the transition from youth to manhood, he displays the desire to be free from authority, to do only that which can give pleasure, and to conform to society. But more important than these things, during this period of life the youth must begin to develop his character.

The purpose of the N.D.C.C. program is to help the young person achieve the goals of leadership, self discipline his actions and to accept the responsibilities of adulthood. Through this period of transition he acquires the insight which is most valuable to his character.

The N. D. C. C. Colorguard serve their school and country by raising the flag at the commencement of each school day.

The Honorary Cadets Hostesses of School

Selected by good grades, good citizenship and poise, the eleven Honorary Cadets, consisting of junior and senior girls, are the official hostesses of George Washington. Working one period a day, the Honorary Cadets helped to assist with the work needed to be done in the N.D.C.C. office. They also practiced marching three times a week before school. This practice was necessary because they marched in the parades in which the N.D.C.C. participated. Being an Honorary Cadet was not all work, for they also took part in potlucks with the Honorary Cadets from other schools, and went to the N.D.C.C. Ball in the early spring.

Drill Team Performs on Military Holidays

The N.D.C.C. drill team of Geoge Washington is nearly as new as its school and military unit, with only two veteran performers, Don Gibson, Commander, coming from East, and Dean Pigman from South to form the nucleus. They began working out with other prospective cadets even before the second semester and regular N.D.C.C. classes got under way.

The remainder of the team includes: John Thompson, Mike Burch and Larry Morson, seniors; Don Herrick, Robert Hollowell, juniors; and three sophomores, Bill Plutt, Paul Lancy and Jon Foster.

Striving for balance and precision, the drill team has improved measurably in the past few weeks and performed creditably in the recent Federal Inspection.

The eight-man unit was entered in the University of Colorado R.O.T.C. Open House Invitational Meet and the annual Denver R.O.T.C.-N.D.C.C. All City Drill Meet.

MEMBERS of the Washington drill team plan the route for a future field trip.

Marksmen Compete in Interschool Matches

Many of the matches in which the N.D.C.C. rifle team participated were against the other Denver high schools. Organized at the beginning of the second semester, the rifle team had one veteran, Ron Chapin, from South high school. The majority of the team consisted largely of sophomores.

One of the important matches in which the rifle team competed was the Colorado State Rifle and Pistol Matches which were held at the Cherry Creek Gun Club. They also competed in the Regional Match at Thomas Jefferson.

WHILE PRACTICING for a tournament, the NDCC squad aims with caution.

THE CADETS and their dates are enjoying the enchantment of the evening at the Military Ball, held at the D.U. Student Union.

Because of its inexperience, the varsity baseball team has suffered in this season's competition. Only one letterman, Rick Bugdanowitz, returned this year.

The infielders are Mike Metsek at second base, Doug Conrad at shortstop, Casper Rasmussen third baseman, and either Ed Howsam or Steve Berkowitz at first base. Jim Cason and Fred Dorsey comprise the outfield.

Sophomore Nine Fares Well in First Round

Completing the first round of league play with a 3-3-1 record, the Sophomore baseball team has displayed fine teamwork and balance. In defeating Manual, Lincoln and North, the Sophomore nine scored over 15 runs in each game. The Sophomore squad downed Lincoln 18-5 in their best played game.

Coached by Robert Brannberg, the Sophomores have developed into a championship contender. Their greatest asset has been consistent pitching; Jim Smith has been their starting hurler. First baseman Ron Kroll has compiled the best hitting record. As exemplified by their first round performance, the Sophomore team has the potential to develop into a fine Varsity squad.

Cinderman Place High in City Competition

Early in the season the prospects of a victory for the track team in the city meet on Color Day were good. The team had won two out of two triangular meets while placing third in the DPHS Relays, and fifth in the Aurora Relay competition. They were strong contenders in the sprints, hurdles, pole vault and discus. Among the outstanding returning lettermen were Steve Cain, Russ Casement, Stan Irvine, Jim Bailey, Joe Hollander and Bob Anderson.

The team, under Greg Browning, completed a successful season.

ALBUM

We can remember entering a new building last September. We were unknowing and unsuspecting as we entered George Washington High School, but we soon began to feel very much a part of the new spirit which was developing. Each one of us had a significant part in this growth.

We made new and lasting friendships, established traditions, gained recognition, cultivated pride, met scholastic achievement and became united.

We were so busy that we sometimes forgot to be thankful for the advantages we certainly possessed. Looking through the following pictures reminds us of the transition by which we have come to realize that our harvest is a plentiful one. We tried, we accomplished and we will remember.

NEWLY ELECTED Student Council representatives Skip Ahern, Bob Rushmore, Joann Conrad, and Barbara Lane discuss upcoming sophomore activities with Dean Clow, class president.

Sophs Supplement Legacy for Future

The transition from junior high to the more complex and crowded world of high school is never easy. The class of '63 faced a more complicated problem. As the first class to complete three full years at Washington, they looked forward to establishing new traditions and creating a legacy of strong school spirit for succeeding years.

The sophomores supported their class activities enthusiastically by joining school clubs and electing officers who represented the student body well during Washington's first, formative year. "Mardi Gras" was chosen as the theme for the sophomore party, held in March.

By participating in many newly organized school events, and attending club meetings and dances, the sophomores gained the sense of loyalty and belonging which is an essential part of every high school memory.

Juniors Encourage Patriotic Traditions

With the aid of the Advisory Council, chosen prior to the beginning of this school year, junior Student Council members and officers carefully planned the future Junior Class activities.

The Junior Prom was the largest project undertaken by the Class of 1962. The Student Council, working closely with the student body helped make this one of the most successful dances of the entire year.

Fully realizing that next year's school officers would play a large part in the formation of Washington's ideals and traditions, the Student Council carefully executed its job in conducting the school elections.

Seniors Participate in Various Activities

Despite the fact George Washington High School is in the first year of its existence, the senior class has accomplished much through its activities. Seniors have contributed greatly to our successful seasons in sports. Our school has also gained prestige through scholastic award winners and students with immense art ability.

The main project for the Class of 1961 is Southern Gardens, the senior prom. The purpose of it is not only to furnish enjoyment to students, but also to raise money for senior activities.

Jackie
I'm sure glad to know some one that I can talk to. I hope I will see more of you in the future. Good luck always.
Miss Pamela Manning
Class of '62"

Jackie,
It's been a lot of fun you sitting & hear this in living & you
I hope I see you
summer and see you
Sincerely,
Dear Maxman

Jackie (S.T.)
Well hon, don't think it hasn't been great knowing you, because it hasn't.
Really in all seriousness I think you are a great gal and I am glad my sister was smart enough to pick you as a friend & introduce you to me.
I was flubbed up at the beginning of because then we would be able other than between classes and day you profit from and Jerry and
